Dear Ms. Walker:

This is in response to your letter dated 10 July which identifies [redacted] as a candidate for a one year assignment to the Central Intelligence Agency from the President's Commission on Executive Exchange.

STAT

[redacted] experience and credentials are impressive; he is an excellent candidate for the Executive Exchange Program. In our past participation in this program, we have usually sought-out nominees whose experience and expertise bears close relation to our principal activities (e.g. political, economic, military and scientific and technical intelligence) and who come from a security environment nearly as stringent as our own. I have asked our Director of Personnel to assess potential assignments for [redacted] and to advise you of the results of the search as soon as possible. If we are unable to match [redacted] specific experience to our activities, we would be happy to consider other candidates from your program.

The Honorable William Webster
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Webster:

It is with great pleasure that I bring to your attention a newly appointed executive to the President's Commission on Executive Exchange, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] will be joining our program this fall and would be available for a one-year assignment to the Central Intelligence Agency, should you have a challenging position which could utilize his aerospace engineering and project management expertise.

I firmly believe that this candidate could be a great asset to your agency and look forward to discussing his credentials further with you in the next few days.

Cordially,

June G. Walker
